

Colorado Automobile Theft Prevention Authority

Colorado ranks above national auto theft rates and among the top ten states in the country for auto theft, according to 2005 crime data from the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The crime of auto theft became a significant component in the state's overall serious crime rate increase in 2005, compared to the prior year, while the nation as a whole experienced a decrease in serious crime.

Colorado's Auto Theft Problem

Colorado's auto theft rate – the number of thefts per 100,000 Coloradans -- in 2005 was 559.5, compared to the national rate of 416.7. During 2005, a total of 26,101 motor vehicles were stolen in Colorado. The number of auto thefts in Colorado increased by 10.2 percent while the national statistics show no change. The estimated value of the vehicles reported stolen in Colorado in 2005 was a total of $156,269,495.

The top 10 law enforcement agencies who reported the crime of motor vehicle thefts in Colorado are:

Colorado Automobile Theft Prevention Authority

The Colorado Automobile Theft Prevention Authority's (CATPA) statutory intent is to reduce motor vehicle theft in Colorado by awarding grants. The grant resources come from a trust fund established by the legislature. The resources of the trust fund are the voluntary contributions from motor vehicle insurers. State Farm Insurance Companies ($693,344), Progressive Insurance Company ($100,000), and Country Companies ($1,000) have contributed a total amount of $794,344 to the trust fund. No tax dollars are involved in the grants program. The Colorado State Patrol (CSP) of the Colorado Department of Public Safety (CDPS) has been responsible for the management of the program and will be reporting the results of the authority's theft prevention programs to the Colorado General Assembly.

Highlights from the Task Force Activity

The Denver Metro Auto Theft Team (DMATT)

This team is comprised of 14 law enforcement agencies from the Denver Metropolitan Area including the Colorado Attorney General's Office, Department of Revenue, and State Parks. This task force has recovered a total of 297 stolen vehicles, investigated 19 chop shops, inspected 56 businesses, and arrested a total of 159 persons on automobile theft-related charges.

The DMATT and the Commerce City Police Department received regional recognition for their outstanding achievement in the area of automobile theft. In 2006, they were awarded the "Gary Gray Memorial" Award from the Western States Auto Theft Investigators (WSATI). The Gary Gray Memorial Award was instituted in 2003 in memory of Gary Gray an automobile theft investigator with the National Insurance Crime Bureau (NICB). In his honor, this award recognizes an organization or individual who has made a significant contribution in reducing the crime of automobile theft.

The Regional Auto Theft Team of Northern Colorado (NCRAT)

This is a collaborative effort among 10 law enforcement agencies in Northern Colorado. To date this task force has recovered a total of 130 stolen vehicles and arrested 47 persons on auto-theft related charges. Additionally the team members have provided automobile theft training to 151 officers.

Metropolitan Reduce Automobile Theft (RAT)

This partnership is comprised of the Colorado Spring Police Department, the El Paso County Sheriffs Office, and the Colorado State Patrol who are working together to reduce automobile theft in the Colorado Springs area. The success of this multi-jurisdictional group has led to a 15.56 percent reduction in automobile theft in El Paso County and the Colorado Springs area between 2004 and 2005.

Roaring Fork Valley Task Force

Located on Colorado's Western Slope, this task force is comprised of the eight law enforcement agencies in the Glenwood Springs/Aspen area. To date this task force has recovered a total of 54 stolen vehicles.

Project "Gotcha"

Washington County Sheriff's Office received funding to purchase a Global Positioning System (GPS) device to combat the theft of farm machinery and construction equipment in Colorado's northeast corner.

Highlights from the Public Awareness Activities

Watch Your Car Program

The State of Colorado participates in the Watch Your Car Program which is a motor vehicle theft prevention program. The Watch Your Car Program is a cooperative initiative among states and the Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA). Statistics show that significant number of auto thefts occur during the early morning hours when the vehicle's owner is asleep and is unaware that their vehicle was stolen.

The Program provides decals to motor vehicle owners to display on their vehicles. These decals are an indication to the police officer that this vehicle is not normally driven between the hours of 1 a.m. and 5 a.m. Therefore, they have probable cause to stop the vehicle. Owners register the vehicles in this Program. The Colorado State Patrol maintains a database of all of the vehicles enrolled in Watch Your Car Program.

In order to create public awareness about availability of the Watch Your Car Program in Colorado, the Colorado State Patrol and the Denver Police Department's COPS SHOP held events to increase participation in the program. Media events were held and vehicle anti-theft devices "The Club®" were purchased. These steering wheel devices were given to individuals who registered their vehicle in the Watch Your Car Program at these events.

Training and Community Education

A number of advanced training courses in the area of automobile theft were provided to all members of the Colorado Auto Theft Investigators (CATI). CATI is an organization whose members are from 30 law enforcement agencies, the insurance industry, and the National Insurance Crime Bureau (NICB). This is tri-state organization (Colorado Wyoming, and Nebraska) and its purpose is to educate its members about the latest developments in the field of automobile theft and associated crimes.

Multi-Family Housing Project

The Wheatridge Police Department partnered with five apartment complexes within the city to combat the crime of automobile theft. The apartment complexes issued stickers to their residents. A significant number of stolen vehicles were being recovered in these complexes. It allowed apartment management to easily identify those unauthorized vehicles.

Bait Car Advertising Campaign

This project was a public awareness campaign about law enforcement's use of bait vehicles in combating the crime of automobile theft. This campaign was conducted by the Arapahoe County Sheriff's Office who used both prints and radio media to educate the public about auto theft prevention and the use of a bait vehicle.
